

Privacy Statement of the Central Coast Campus Union Limited (CCCUL)
Trading as Yourimbah

CCCUL is subject to the Commonwealth Privacy Act 1988 and National Privacy Principles. This Privacy Statement explains how CCCUL collects personal information and how we maintain, use and disclose that information in compliance with the Act.

CCCUL aims to uphold the confidential manner in which we treat all personal and private information. No private information will be made available to any person, supplier or organisation by CCCUL, (except in line with Clause 3 Disclosure of Information below) without your express consent and nothing in the agreement to join this site constitutes such consent.

This privacy statement applies specifically to this web site and the electronic communications facilities used by CCCUL. The facilities contain public areas that may be viewed from any Internet connected computer. Other areas are restricted to access by members of CCCUL. It is important to CCCUL that it's members and customers retain their privacy when they take advantage of all that CCCUL and its services have to offer.

When you provide information to us, you consent to us collecting, maintaining, using and disclosing the information in accordance with this Privacy Statement.

1. Collection and use of Information

CCCUL collects only the information that you provide to us. Other than your email address, we do not automatically capture any other information including for example, information about you, your computer or your ISP.

The personal information you give us in registering your membership of CCCUL will be protected by us from misuse, loss, unauthorised access or modification. Access to information by CCCUL and its staff is governed by an access protocol which restricts access by staff on a need to know basis.

2. Use of Information

CCCUL collects personal information from you to enable us to communicate with you by e-mail or by text message, to improve our web site and to personalise our service to you. For example, we may provide you with newsletters, activity information, pointers, advice, recommendations or advertisements for goods or services that we think will interest you, according to the preferences you have determined. We will also use the information for our own internal membership administration and analysis.

3. Disclosure of Information

CCCUL will not release (i.e. disclose, sell, rent or otherwise) the personal or sensitive information it holds unless required or provided for by law, or with the consent of the individual to whom the information relates, or to enforce the terms and conditions of use of our web site to protect and defend the rights and interests or property of CCCUL or in exceptional circumstances to prevent a threat to life or health.

CCCUL will not store in or transfer your personal information to countries outside Australia.

4. Maintenance of information and data quality

CCCUL is committed to ensuring that the personal information held about you is accurate, complete and up-to-date. If any of the information you have given us changes at any time, you can directly change this record by contacting the CCCUL office via email, phone or in person.

5. Questions, Complaints and Disputes.

If you have questions about this statement or our Privacy Policy, or you believe the privacy of your information has been compromised in any way you are entitled to lodge a complaint. Complaints can be lodged in person or in writing to the:
